

February 24, 2014

L&T Bags 'Best Sustainability Report Award' - 2014

L&T's Sustainability Report - Future Now - was declared the best corporate report by the World CSR Congress for its width and depth of coverage, its high degree of transparency and the engaging manner in which it has projected non-financial data.

Mr. Ajit Singh, EVP - Corporate Infrastructure & Services, received the award from Mr. Bhaskar Chatterjee, Director General & CEO, Indian Institute of Corporate Affairs (IICA), at a function attended by a number of global corporate leaders, NGOs and CSR specialists in Mumbai last week.

The award was part of the Global Sustainability Leadership Awards 2014 instituted by the World CSR Congress. The selection process involved rigorous screening of applications from a number of corporates. Shortlisted contestants then made presentation to jury members comprising international CSR consultants, CEOs, sustainability experts and members of the media.

The community initiatives of L&T Vizag unit also received an award in 'Outstanding Social Impact' category.

As with the earlier reports, Sustainability Report 2013 - Future Now is based on Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) G3 framework and is 'GRI checked A+' indicating the highest level of disclosure in the public domain and assured by Ernst & Young.

The award reiterates L&T's commitment to triple bottom line performance and accords greater public visibility to L&T's sustainability initiatives.

Mr. Ajit Singh (right) receiving the Best Sustainability Report award from Mr. Bhaskar Chatterjee (middle).