

January 29, 2013

SDDC Wins Four Awards at INDIASTAR 2012

At the INDIASTAR 2012 award distribution ceremony held on 29th January, 2013 at Hotel Leela Kempinski - Mumbai, the Switchgear Design & Development Centre (SDDC) received four awards for excellence in packaging.

Instituted by the Indian Institute of Packaging in 1972, the award is regarded as the most popular and premier event for India's packaging fraternity and qualifies the winners for participation at the forthcoming Asiastar and Worldstar packaging contests at the intercontinental and world levels.

(Left to right) Mr. S.P. Sharma, Mr. Vijay V. Bhandarkar and Mr. Roshan Kadam (extreme right) pose with Mr. Dharmatilake Ratnayake, Past President, Asian Packaging Federation (APF) after receiving the trophy and certificates

The winning entries were designed by Mr. Roshan D. Kadam and Mr. Vijay V. Bhandarkar from SDDC's Packaging Cell. Three of the awards were in the Transport Package category, whilst the fourth was in the Consumer Package category. SDDC has been regularly participating at this event and, with the current year's performance, taken the award tally to 40.