L&T-Sargent & Lundy offers Comprehensive Engineering solutions for Air Quality Control Systems

L&T-Sargent & Lundy (L&T-S&L) with close association with its JV parent company Sargent & Lundy (S&L), USA are jointly offering wide range of Air Quality Control System (AQCS) Services addressed to reduce emission of PM, SO<sub>x</sub>, NO<sub>x</sub> and Hg in coal based power plants across the world. The Solutions include FGDs, SCR, SNCR and other emission control systems.

In December of 2015, the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MOEFCC), Government of India issued an Amendment to the Rules of Environment (Protection) Act, 1986 that regulates the emission of SO<sub>x</sub>, NO<sub>x</sub>, PM and Hg in coal-fired thermal power plants.

L&T-S&L has capability to provide solutions for Air Quality Control System (AQCS) projects to achieve the required emission reductions while minimizing Capital and O&M costs.

Over the past two decades, S&L has assisted numerous plant owners in the development of strategic compliance plans to address myriad regulations at federal and state levels. These strategic planning activities have led to an industry-leading role for S&L in the engineering, design, construction, and deployment of emission control technologies across the globe.

With this level of worldwide presence, S&L expertise & Knowledge base is available to L&T-S&L in its endeavor to provide comprehensive and proven engineering services for the emerging needs of stringent environmental emission control norms.
