

SNS Features in Construction Week's Power 100 list

Deemed one of the Middle East's Most Influential Construction Leaders of 2020

L&T's CEO & MD, Mr. S. N. Subrahmanyam, ranked 13th on Construction Week's prestigious Power 100 list, which was released in its latest issue. The list features the Middle East's 100 Most Influential Construction Leaders of 2020.

It would be prudent to recall that Mr. Subrahmanyam was conferred the prestigious 'CEO of the Year - Private' Award at the CNBC-AWAAZ CEO Awards in February this year. He was also conferred the prestigious IIM-JRD Tata Award for Excellence in Corporate Leadership in Metallurgical Industries in November 2019.

Construction Week's ranking is based on L&T's securing a huge number of construction contracts across the GCC and North Africa. The magazine mentioned progress on the key projects below, and commended SNS's leadership in L&T's securing of such contracts:

- Construction of $509.1 million freight facilities for Etihad Rail, the UAE's national railway network, as part of a JV with Power China International
- Marjan and Berri oilfield increment programmes for Saudi Aramco
- Building of the Mandarin Oriental Hotel, Muscat, Oman
- Substations for the Kuwait National Petroleum Corporation's Al-Ahmadi oil refinery

Construction Week is the Middle East's largest construction and contracting portal. Its 2020 Power 100 rankings were based on publicly available information and entries submitted concerning the performances of the companies over the past 12 months, including revenues, the scale of project delivery, how they have overcome challenges and what initiatives they have created to boost prospects, awards and future plans.

