

L&T Hydrocarbon Engineering Wins 'EPC Company of the Year' at FIPI Awards

Mr. S.N. Subrahmanyam and Mr. Subramanian Sarma receiving the coveted FIPI trophy and citation from Shri Dharmendra Pradhan, Hon'ble Minister for Petroleum & Natural Gas and Steel, Gol.

L&T Hydrocarbon Engineering (LTHE) has won 'Engineering Procurement Construction (EPC) - Company of the Year' award for the year 2020 conferred by the Federation of Indian Petroleum Industry (FIPI).

Mr. S.N. Subrahmanyam, CEO & MD, Larsen & Toubro, and Mr. Subramanian Sarma, CEO & MD, L&T Hydrocarbon Engineering and Whole-time Director (Energy), Larsen & Toubro, received the prestigious award from the hands of Shri Dharmendra Pradhan, Hon'ble Minister for Petroleum & Natural Gas and Steel, Gol, at an awards gala held in New Delhi on Wednesday, January 27, 2021.

The award recognises LTHE's commendable performance in a year filled with uncertainty and challenges. In 2020, the company successfully delivered multiple large value projects for customers in India and elsewhere including an INDMAX FCC

Unit for IOCL at Bongaigaon (Assam) and a couple of Offshore projects for ONGC. Besides, the company also secured a handful of large-value domestic orders in the petrochemicals and offshore space during the year.

FIPI is an apex society of entities in the hydrocarbon sector and acts as an industry interface with Government and regulatory authorities. The FIPI awards, which are open to all EPC companies operating in India, recognise activities carried out by EPC firms and assess their contribution in terms of overall business performance, project management, quality, and health & safety, among other things.
